

Control Those Cravings

For those that struggle with controlling cravings, try adding protein to your meals. Protein has been shown to increase satiety (feelings of fullness), which means you're less likely to over-eat. Adding protein to a carbohydrate meal can also reduce the glycemic response – basically, helping to stabilise your blood sugar levels which in turn reduces cravings.

